

Karl von Gunten is the Director of Marketing for Nextreme Thermal Solutions. With more than 25 years of experience in marketing and public relations, Karl brings a deep knowledge of products and trends to the communications business. Prior to joining Nextreme, Karl was Director of Business Development, Managing Supervisor, at Gibbs & Soell Public Relations and Vice President at Brodeur Worldwide, where he oversaw the regional office and managed PR efforts for industry leaders such as IBM, Nortel, Acterna, and Internet Security Systems. He serves as an adjunct professor for Duke University Pratt School of Engineering and holds a B.A. in Physics from Wittenberg University.